Community sites

The Global Network of Institutions for Statistical Training (GIST) and The Inter-agency and Expert Group on SDG Indicators (IAEG-SDGs) maintain the page for disseminating learning resources for use by countries, international agencies and other stakeholders.

This page provides an overview of statistical courses and resources made available by member states, international agencies and partners active in the global statistical community. The content of the courses has been developed by the agencies and partners that produce and share them. For any clarification or correction, please contact the agency or partner responsible.

About the Women2Lead community

The community site is available to anyone interested in further developing leadership skills and gaining knowledge on relevant topics such as economic empowerment, conflict resolution, and women's political participation. Those who register to the community will also have access to a forum for sharing experiences and learning from others. Women2Lead is part of the One UNITAR Gender initiative that promotes innovative learning solutions on women's empowerment, building on extensive experiences and knowledge of all UNITAR Divisions. One UNITAR Gender aims to empower more women around the world, and especially in developing countries and least developed countries, to strengthen their leadership skills and feel empowered to apply and share their knowledge with others.
